SELECTED THOUGHTS  JOT DOWN IN YOUR NOTEBOOK :

NOISE :

The noisy boy is a delight. The noisy man is a nuisance. Don't be noisy enough to make people think you are not genuine; but don't be quiet enough to make them think you are a nonentity, or afraid.

The biggest noise is always made by the biggest failure.

RELIGION :

The strongest willed people in the world were saints; and the happiest and sanest people in the world were saints. To live a good example is to do a double good.

Nothing is little that is done for God's honor and glory.

FRIENDS :

If I were a saint, I should be more afraid of flattery than of anything else; and, because I am not a saint, I ought to fear it still more. No friendship will stand the shock of sin.

Be at least as much of a gentleman to your friend as you are to a stranger.

ENEMIES :

The way to change into friends the enemies who misunderstand, is to find out the way to tell them the truth; and one doesn't lose the time taken in scheming to that end.

Enmity at bottom is a sin; and the only thing with which a sin can be opposed is the opposite virtue. Cherish your enemies.

CLEANLINESS :

It is quite useless to tell a young man not to narrate filthy stories or to blaspheme, if he has the filth in his mind and the thoughts of blasphemy in his soul.

Trace out all the failures in the world and you will find that impurity has the largest toll of victims.

He who guards his thoughts also guards his tongue.

HATRED :

What the confusion of tongues did in scattering humanity, the gospel of hatred would have done later; but in blood and tears, and with the sacrifice of thousands. No reputation is fortified against hatred, and no personal worth can save entirely from its venom. If you must hate, then hate hatred.

Prayers requested for a special intention -- student.

NEWS DIGEST

ST. BONAVENTURE, N.Y. President Roosevelt addressed a letter to the Very Rev. Thomas Plassman, O.F.M., President of St. Bonaventure College, asking that he be one of those sent the special cachet issued here in honor of Bible Sunday.

DETROIT, MICH. "Christianity's complete answer to the labor problem of our industrial civilization" lies in the encyclicals of Pope Leo XIII and Pius XI, Governor Murray Van Wagoner of Michigan said in a telegram. The message was read at a meeting held Monday commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of RERUM NOVARUM and the tenth anniversary of QUADRAGESIMO ANNO. Three thousand attended the meeting sponsored by the University of Detroit, the Archdiocesan Labor Institute, and the Association of Catholic Unionists.

Governor Van Wagoner said: "Please accept the thanks of one outside your faith for the steady influence of the Catholic Church's labor attitude in Michigan's critical hour. The immortal Encyclicals that you are commemorating tonight are Christianity's complete answer to the labor problem of our industrial civilization. America can find no better formula to resist today's physical and moral enemies of our way of life."

NEW YORK, N.Y. After more than two decades of religious persecution the Russian Communists have been compelled to acknowledge that a third of the urban population and two thirds of the rural population of the U.S.S.R. continue to openly profess faith in God, according to Rossiya, White Russian newspaper published here.
